

Textual proposal of the Republic of Kazakhstan

Non-paper 3 of the Chair of the Committee

Day 2, November 26th, 2024

Article 15 Reporting

Kazakhstan is concerned with the obligatory language proposed for Article 15, as it may impose significant financial and technological burden on developing countries.

Therefore, we suggest incorporating more flexible provisions and language, by also including a differentiated reporting approach for developed and developing countries, incorporation for financial, technological and capacity-building mechanisms and a voluntary reporting framework for developing countries.

As an alternative, we propose replacing the word shall with may in all of the paragraphs of Article 15.
