

Article [6]: Production and Supply

1. Parties shall take the necessary measures to reach sustainable levels of production and consumption to prevent and mitigate the adverse impacts of the production of primary plastic polymers on human health and the environment.
2. At its first session, the Conference of the Parties shall adopt a global target on reduction of production levels, taking into account the socio-economic impacts of the implementation of such target, particularly in Parties that are not producers of plastics.
3. The Conference of the Parties shall identify guidelines on measures to achieve this target, outlined in Annex [x], which Parties can implement in line with their priorities and levels of consumption and production.
4. Each Party shall annually report its levels of primary plastic polymer production, imports, and exports, as well as barriers and challenges identified to implement these provisions.
5. The Conference of the Parties shall regularly assess collective progress towards achieving the global production reduction target and based on the findings of this assessment, adjust the guidelines indicated in paragraph 3 above.
