3. Reporting on progress

Thank you Mr and Madam Co-Facilitators.

Mr and Madam Co-Facilitators,

We would like to add our views on reporting on progress. First of all, Indonesia sees the importance of reporting provision that reflects the needs of developing countries. We would like to underline that the provisions on reporting on progress are highly related to the previous section on implementation and compliance, therefore we will also have to ensure that both sections are aligned.

With that consideration in mind, Indonesia supports Option 2 in this section since this option is concise and straightforward compared to the other options while giving flexibility for the developing countries to prepare and develop the reporting system needed.
Regarding OP1, we would like to emphasize the importance of different reporting timelines for developed and developing countries.

Mr and Madam Co-Facilitators,

Indonesia supports OP3 to ensure the governing body decides the timing and format of the report while emphasizing the flexibility for developing countries in implementing this provision. We also see the importance of making the national reports publicly available, as reflected in OP3 bis. Additionally, Indonesia can also positively consider OP3 ter. to ensure support for developing countries during the reporting development process.

Regarding OP2, we see that this paragraph could be streamlined with OP3, especially regarding the report's publication. Indonesia also sees that the substance of reporting should be discussed at a later stage because it is interconnected with the discussion going on in CG1.

We would take the floor again related to other sections.

Thank you.

4. Periodic assessment and monitoring of the progress of implementation of the instrument

Thank you Mr and Madam Co-Facilitators,

Regarding periodic assessment and monitoring of the progress of the implementation of the instrument, we are in view that we could work on the current provision on assessment and monitoring subsection as monitoring is also mandated on UNEA Resolution 5/14. We believe that this section would emphasize the importance of establishing a baseline, collecting data, and identifying the risks and impact of plastic pollution. Although, we also see that a streamlining could be done in the future in this section.
Mr. and Madam Co-Facilitators,

We also would like to add our views regarding effectiveness subsection. Indonesia is of the view that several elements in OP1 are important for us. First, this delegation supports the establishment of a subsidiary body to conduct an evaluation of the implementation of this treaty. Although, we are of the view that this mechanism should be facilitative in nature.

We see that this paragraph could be streamlined. We prefer OP1 to stop at the first sentence ("including measures support developing countries overcome challenges related to the implementation of the instrument"). We see that the rest of the paragraph could be merged with OP1 and OP2 Alt.

Mr. and Madam Co-Facilitators,

Indonesia sees that OP2 could be streamlined by emphasizing the adoption of modalities by the governing bodies because modalities are necessary for conducting an effective evaluation.

This delegation sees that OP3 Alt is preferable, although Indonesia sees that some elements from OP3 could be adopted on OP3 Alt in which the guidance is based on the best available scientific, environmental, technical, financial, and economic information.

Finally, this delegation could support OP4.

Thank you.
