Kazakhstan tentatively supports Option 3.

At the same time, we believe that the creation of a separate coordinating body will be difficult in the countries since the document is of cross-sectoral nature (complex issue of overall coordination). It is also impossible to create additional strategies in Kazakhstan because it is not provided by the national planning system, we consider it possible to limit ourselves to information programs.