The objective of this instrument is to protect the environment from plastic pollution, including in the marine environment, through effective implementation of this instrument, appropriate access to and transfer of relevant technologies, capacity building and funding, taking into account of national circumstances and capabilities.